XSORB is not known to generate heat and/or fire when used with bio-fuels, vegetable oil, ethanol, turpentine and other unsaturated organic compounds. Use caution if XSORB is used to absorb hazardous liquids and comply with local regulations regarding the handling and disposal of absorbed hazardous liquids. XSORB will not leach out absorbed liquids. DO NOT USE WITH HYDROFLUORIC ACID.
Certifications/Licenses	   Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada
Disposal Information	In most states it is illegal to dispose of paint down storm or sewer drains. Paint contaminates drinking water and ocean water. Landfills do not accept paint in liquid form, but will accept paint that has been solidified. XSORB meets and/or exceeds EPA regulations for proper and safe disposal of solidified liquids passing the PFT (Paint Filter Test), TCLP (Toxicity Characteristic Leaching Procedure test) and the LFT (Liquid Release Test). With the exception of a few, most states accept and have adopted EPA standards regarding disposal of absorbed hazardous or toxic waste in landfills.
